AKSHARGYAN REPORT

Brief Introduction:

"SERVICE BEFORE SELF" solely these three words depict the true meaning of Akshargyan.

Akshargyan is a society, or it would be wrong to call it a society, it is a family of some students of JSSATE who join hands together every evening to educate the same underprivileged children, who aim at forming a family with those children away from their home. A family away from home is just for selfless love, care, worries, and most important knowledge (Gyan), mannerisms (Sanskara), and humanity.

The student tries to share their in-depth knowledge on several subjects with the children, teaching them life lessons, code of conduct for life academics, sports, and the favorite part of children information about our festivities and our cultural and ritualistic practice.

"A NORMAL DAY AT AKSHARGYAN"

"Why are you calling it a life, if you are just living it for the sake of your own benefit, with zero contribution towards society" With this thought a group of students come together every evening at the JSS Temple to write a new story far dawn of knowledge in every dusk. A normal evening of Akshargyan starts with children coming with their joyful faces and filling the environment with positivity by joining their hands for prayer then in the premises of the JSS temple the students get their hands over 3-4 children and teach them, starting from the basics. what we aim for here is knowledge irrespective of their classes.

Here first we test what they already know and up to what extent they have retained their previous knowledge and, on that basis, we move further with their academics, and then we prepare them for their school exams and studies, and in addition to this, we also have some special which guide the children for competitive exam like JNU selection test.

Besides this we also focus on the behavioral change, ethics, and manners of the children, we also emphasize growing them as good humans.

“A SPORTY SATURDAY”

Every Saturday we make arrangements for the games of children to make them understand sportsmanship teamwork and the importance of physical health.

We arrange a game of kabaddi and kho-kho for girls and even the student let their children be out in that have and starts to play with them and encourage them towards sporting event.
