Dr. Pranava Manjari N.
Head, Department of English

Programme Schedule

Following the Inaugural Ceremony, the module on HOW TO UP THE EMPLOYABILITY QUOTIENT, kick started with a 2-hour Presentation by Dr. Pranava Manjari, Head of the Department of English, on what are the components of Communication that the Corporate World sees as a necessary skill set to possess before a candidate can be pronounced marketable and employable. The afternoon session saw the activity in GROUP DISCUSSION mooted to involve students in a brainstorming session to elicit views and demonstrate how to communicate.

The second day of the Soft Skills Training Programme for sixth semester students took off to a bright start with our Resource person, Ms. Aparna Chandrashekar joining us Online from Bangalore. A useful session on Preparing to ace the Interview lasted for 2 hours. Ms. Chandrashekar's 30 year experience as Corporate Trainer and Life coach was evident from the effortless ease with which she proceeded to connect the dots on a Resume for the enthusiastic participants. Some 100 students participated

The third day of the Training Programme was a success with students actively participating in sessions on Emotional Intelligence and activities in Stress Management. The Resource persons, Dr. Nishi Sharma and Dr. Deepa Tyagi from the Department of English, not only were thorough but did a great job of involving students in the process.

Our afternoon sessions in Soft Skills Training Programme had been seeing a slight drop in numbers because of another important course scheduled for the same audience under the aegis of Digi Saksham. The fourth day's sessions were therefore done in the morning slots and were completed by 12.30 p.m. Once again, enthusiastic participation was noted for the modules in Conflict Resolution and Motivation.

The Resource persons were Dr. Kalika Singh and Dr. Pranava Manjari respectively.

The 5-day Soft Skills Training Programme for the sixth semester students of B.Tech ended with the module on Corporate Calling by Dr. Meetu Bhatia, who shared expert tips on how to ready oneself for the industry from the perspective of a recruiter who is looking for the right combination of Soft Skills.

Invite of the Valedictory

After her 2-hour session was the Valedictory.

The highlight was a feedback offered by 4 students who said all the sessions gave those useful pointers to what Skills help and how to get there.

The Principal gave an animated speech on the components that constitute being industry-ready and hoped the students would work on the takeaways offered on this platform.

Feedback was sought and forms were shared with students to elicit their response on every session. The responses are very positive and encouraging.
